

Please no! I'm a flight attendant and am strongly opposed to cell phone use in flight. We make important announcements during flight many having to do with safety and if everyone is on their phone and not paying attention they could not hear the information. Also a cabin is a small space and with people talking on their cell phones it will make it that much smaller and noisier. Mostly my objections have to do with the safety of my passengers but also their sanity and mine.